The Integrated Communication Centre of Poznan will have a modern, open design.

The centre will include:

- a new railway station
- bus station
- tram stop
- office buildings
- a large parking
- a hotel
- a shopping mall

This will all created in the current station and the neighborhood of the station.

The investment is worth about 160 million euros.

The investment agreement between PKP and the Hungarian company TriGranit was signed in June last year. In total, seven companies are cooperating, headed by Trigranit. Currently, the parties concentrate on getting all the permits needed to begin the construction of the new station to be built in the first stage of investment. The value of this part of the project is around 110 million zlotys.

Construction work is scheduled to start in the first half of 2011 and completed in the second quarter of 2012 - before the World Cup Football - Euro 2012.

The new station (7 thousand m²) will be a functional extension of the shopping center, which has to be built as well. At level 0, bus terminals are planned along with the offices connected to the railway station by elevators and moving platforms. The service center will be on the same level as the railroad tracks. All elements of the station and shopping gallery will be connect with the car parks which are planned to be built over the rail tracks. Around the station a network of new streets will be created that will facilitate access, both for the 0 and 1 level, by means of the to be renovated Dworcowy bridge.

The author of the design and the architectural concept of the Integrated Transport Centre in Poznań is the international architectural company Bose and Pentagram Architects from Poznan.

In half a year more concrete information will be available on necessary services and products. We will contact Mr. Drzewiecki in August this year.
